

BELLS ARE RINGING

Bells have been used for many centuries for many purposes -- for mass communication, for putting sailors to work on shipboard, for calling the maid to clear the table -- and the residents of Mt Gretna have become used to the Playhouse bell calling theater audiences to their seats. In the Campmeeting the Tabernacle bell, for more than a century, has announced the beginning of a worship service or program.

The Tabernacle bell hangs in a small tower atop the "office" portion of the building.

It may perhaps come as something of a surprise to Chautauquans to learn that a specific schedule for bell ringing was published in their daily newspaper, Pennsylvania Chautauquan. The schedule provides an insight into how summer visitors to Chautauqua spent their days (and evenings).

BELLS

The bell at the Auditorium will be rung daily, except of Saturday and Sunday, as follows:

Forenoon

- 8.00 Recitation
- 8.45 Recitation
- 9.20 {
- 9.30 {Chapel
- 9.45 Half Hour Talk in
C.L.S.C. Building
- 10.15 Recitation
- 11.00 Recitation
- 11.45 Recitation

Afternoon

- 12.30 Dinner
- 1.45 Recitation
- 2.30 Recitation
- 3.15 {
- 3.25 (Afternoon Lecture
- 7.45 {
- 8.00 {Evening Lecture
- 10.15 Closing of the Gates

From this schedule, it appears that Chautauquans were given a little respite during the late afternoon and early evening hours. And the long nighttime silence must have been welcomed by any light sleepers. It seems that the days (except for Saturdays and Sundays) were busy ones; study time, being an individual requirement, was not indicated by any additional bell ringing.

In the Campmeeting, the story is probably the same, but we know less about it. No bell schedule seems to have survived, but a 1902 minute indicates that Rev William Beach was paid two dollars "for his services as bell ringer." Some programs from the Summer Assembly days have survived and give the full schedule of daily classes and services; the assumption that ringing the bell announced each one is probably valid.

The Tabernacle bell, pictured on page 1, was cast in Philadelphia by J Wilbank in 1838 and was valued at $50 on an 1896 inventory of Campmeeting assets. Members of the Association apparently brought the bell with them when they made the 1892 move from the original Stoverdale Campeeting grounds.

A RAILROAD TOWN?

Does anyone think of Mt Gretna as a "railroad town"? The idea is not as far fetched as it may seem today, considering the Robert Coleman legacy.

Mt Gretna was a creation of the C&L Railroad: the park and picnic grove were there to provide a destination for the good people of Lebanon; and the excellent service from Lebanon persuaded the Farmers' Alliance to hold their annual meetings here, just as it must have been a factor in the National Guard's decision to make Mt Gretna the site of their annual summer encampments.

Nearly all the Mt Gretna attractions required good train service, which was indeed supplied by the Cornwall and Lebanon Railroad. And for the convenience of Chautauqua visitors, the daily Pennsylvania Chautauquan published the train schedules.

In the summer of 1905 these schedules showed that on a daily basis nine trains arrived in Mt Gretna from Lebanon and seven from Conewago. That made 16 trains coming into Mt Gretna each day. And since what came in had to go out, there was a total of 32 daily "train events" – arrivals and departures – between 6:08a.m. and 9:55p.m. In addition, there was also the huffing and puffing of the Narrow Gauge Railroad, as it chugged from the Park to the lake and hotel, passing the rifle range and climbing on to Governor Dick. No wonder some of the summer folks wanted relief on Sundays!

When the noise of the train bells and whistles is added to the intermittent pealing of the Tabernacle bell and the scheduled sounding of the Chautauqua bell, one has to wonder about the "peace and quiet" found by visitors.

SOCIETY ACTIVITIES

The most visible activities of the Society since the publication of the first Newsletter have been the series of programs it has sponsored for the public.

The items on this pull-out sheet have been selected from some of the 1904 issues of The Pennsylvania Chautauquan and are reproduced directly from the paper. The paper was published daily during the Chautauqua "season," and monthly during the rest of the year. A stack of these papers was recently found in the Hall of Philosophy and is now in the collections of the Mount Gretna Area Historical Society.

To-Night in the Auditorium SONG RECITAL By

Mrs. Russell King Miller

Mrs. Miller will be remembered by many citizens as the charming Miss Emily Myers, reared from orphan girlhood and her young womanhood in Lebanon. She is gifted, as very many persons here well know, with a finely cultured voice. The Chautauqua management has made a particularly happy selection in having Mrs. Miller give the recital, and a large audience is anticipated, in view of previous excellent entertainments in which Mrs. Miller prominently figured.

Miss Hark Receives

On Saturday evening, July 30, Miss Hark tendered an informal reception to Miss Longacre, of New York, who has been visiting her since Tuesday of last week. The evening was passed in a very enjoyable manner; after refreshments were served the time was spent in games.

Among those present were the Misses Schaeffer, the Misses Schock, Miss Ethel Easton, Miss Evaline Heritage, Miss Louise Kerper, Miss Hark, and Messrs. George Mease, John Schaeffer, Raymond Bevan, H. Eckert Wanner, John Schock, Dean Capp, Henry C. Edgar, John S. Cochrun, and J. Pentrata Bill.

Lost, Strayed, or Stolen

The large Russian Wolf hound belonging to Dr. Max Hark. The animal disappeared on Wednesday evening. Any information as to its whereabouts will be received gladly.

It Pays to Advertise in the Chautauquan

That it pays to advertise in our little paper is evident from the fact that almost every lost article advertised in THE CHAUTAUQUAN is sooner or later restored to the owner. Indeed sometimes all that is necessary is to give the notice to the editor, a proceeding that seems to have magical efficiency. For example, the lost hound of Dr. Max Hark, advertized as lost, strayed, or stolen returned home very promptly, somewhat the worse for wear, it is true, but otherwise undamaged almost immediately after the type announced his being lost. Moral: Advertise in THE CHAUTAUQUAN.

listeners in Freeman Hall at Cornwall Manor. His topic was The History of Cornwall, and on the following day he led a smaller but deeply interested group on a short walking tour, using the Rail Trail to view sites of several of the Cornwall iron furnaces.

Two days later, Chris Resh introduced a group of playground children to some Victorian Games, to the delight and surprise of the children.

On June 24, in a talk co-sponsored with the Chautauqua Summer Program, Jack Bitner presented the history of the Mt Gretna Narrow Gauge Railroad to a crowd of 95 people.

On the hot and humid evening of July 16, more than 50 interested people met in the Campmeeting Tabernacle for a program on Early Days in the Campmeeting, co-sponsored with the Heritage Festival and presented by Tom Meredith.

Among the other less visible but nonetheless important activities of the Mount Gretna Area Historical Society is the continuing cataloging of items by Deborah Hurst.

The Oral History Project, is moving along. Small tape recorders have been acquired and guidelines have been developed for the interviewers.

Anyone wishing to participate in this program, either as in interviewer or interviewee (anyone with long term memories of the Mt Gretna area) should contact Jack Anderson (964-1975) or Tom Mayer (964-1987).

Membership Chairman Betty Miller is actively seeking new members. Anyone interested in joining the Society should contact her.

KAUFMAN'S STORE

One of the fondest recollections of a great many people is the presence of Mr Kaufman's store "over in the Heights." How many of those with such recollections know that Abraham Lincoln Kaufman for one summer operated the store on the Campmeeting grounds? That was in 1923, and it is possible that Campmeeting restrictions on Sunday sales were the incentive for Mr Kaufman to open his own store, on his own property.

The School of Domestic Science

The school of domestic science, under the direction of Miss I. C. Belden, has been a decided success. During the last weeks of the term a new class was organized. This has been composed of six young ladies, several of whom come by train. This class has been reciting daily.

In all there have been nearly forty pupils taking work in this department. The ladies taking the teachers' course finished their work by preparing, in Rorer Hall, as a part of their examination, a meal or luncheon.
